

THOMAS IRELAND / STATEMENT

My practice is centred around broad notions of space, distance and the things which fill it. I am interested in what these things are, both physically and ideologically, and how they operate in our individual and collective understanding.